

Master Agency Concierge Communications Announces Acquisition of Streamline Management Group

Tempe, AZ, June 9, 2010 – Concierge Communications, a Tempe-based technology and communications consulting company, today announced the acquisition Streamline Management Group. Gregory Garbero, co-founder and director of Streamline will join Concierge’s business development team as Senior Account Manager.

“We have worked with Gregory for many years and Concierge is excited to have him on our team,” said Perry Chrisler, President of Concierge Communications. “Gregory has a rich history in the communications industry and his previous experience with our portfolio will make him a welcomed member in our company. In addition, Steamline’s expertise in enterprise audits brings a new and valuable product to Concierge.”

Garbero has 12 years experience in technology and communications. His company, Streamline Management Group, focused on telecom expense management (TEM) with voice and data network optimization. Streamline also integrated sustainable IT initiatives into their recommendations and partnered with companies focused on energy optimization strategies for businesses.

“I’m very excited to combine the core strengths we have built at Streamline Management Group with the advanced portfolio of services, specialized customer support and technical expertise at Concierge Communications,” said Garbero. “With the combined strengths and resources of our companies, we are positioned to become an even more superior resource to our clients. Concierge has the advanced solutions, technical support and team structure that will be a benefit to my previous clients.”
